The New Board Chair for The Long Island Association for AIDS Care (LIAAC)

LIAAC is pleased to announce the Board of Directors has appointed a new Chairman, Thomas Fabbriante.

Tom Fabbriante has been working as a Digital Asset Manager at an optics company, for about 10 years, previously working in the fields of medical care and pharmaceuticals. Tom has been involved with LIAAC in several different capacities over the years. He started his relationship with LIAAC in the 1980s, working as a volunteer, visiting AIDS patients in the hospital.

Mr. Fabbriante has been a faithful member of the LIAAC Board of Directors for over 10 years, and in June 2018 he was appointed as the new Chairman. Former board chair and current CEO, John Haigney, said, “Tom has been an integral part of LIAAC’s Board for many years and will bring much to the table as Board Chair as LIAAC expands its mission of providing services and support for Long Islanders infected and affected by HIV/AIDS and at high risk for HIV infection and other chronic diseases.”
